INT. DINING ROOM - NIGHT

Rachael, 17, and George, 20, are sitting on opposite ends of a 4 foot, rectangular table eating dinner. There is no cover on the table. They are eating off paper plates.

CLOSE UP: RACHAEL EATING HER PIZZA.

CLOSE UP: GEORGE EATING HIS PIZZA.

RACHAEL
This baby won't ruin anything.

GEORGE
You're only 7 weeks in goddammit!

George slams his fists down against the table. Camera cuts into Rachael's POV. George stares directly into the camera.

This guy I know owns an abortion place. We can go there right now and it will be like you weren't even pregnant.

Rachael is shaking and drops of tears are hitting the table.

I will not do that to my baby. That is the last time I want to hear about that. I will not just give up my baby like that. You're making me sick that you would even consider going to that place.

CLOSE UP: RACHAEL CHOMPS AT HER PIZZA.

GEORGE
I am too young to have a baby ruin my life. I don't want a baby. Why don't you just do us both a favor and go to that...place.

CLOSE UP: GEORGE CHOMPS AT HIS PIZZA.

RACHAEL

I don't need you. I would be perfectly fine without you. I'm having this baby whether you're here or not. Now get out of my parent's house before I call them and tell them what you're trying to get me to do!

GEORGE

George starts to laugh hysterically. He dangles his pizza and points it at Rachael.

You're really dumb you know that?
You need me more than I need you.
Tell your parents what I said, I don't give a damn. And we're done.
Don't call me back later tonight and try to sweet talk me back. I'm done for good.

George walks to the door, still laughing. He opens the door then turns around.

You're gonna regret this decision.
Years later you're gonna wish you never even thought about leaving me.

George turns around and slams the door.

FADE OUT.

RACHAEL (V.O)
My life is perfect now with my child, Andrew. George taught me a lesson that your parent don't teach you. Sometimes in life you don't need a husband or a significant other. Sometimes all you need is your baby.
