EXT. SIDEWALK - NIGHT

GARY walks with a bottle of wine.

INT. APARTMENT BUILDING LOBBY

Gary walks in.

INT. APARTMENT

With quiet music a drink is picked up off a coffee table, and then interrupted by a door buzzer.

INT. DOOR

It opens to Gary to be greeted by LARRY.

LARRY
Who are you?

GARY
I don’t know. But, I can be a lot of fun!

LARRY
So, I’ve heard.

They hug warmly.

GARY (Offers the wine.)
Here’s a treat.

LARRY
Thanks.

INT. LIVING ROOM

Gary and Larry walk in.

GARY
So, Jane’s not back yet?

LARRY
She’s still with her sister and the new baby.
GARY
I miss her.

LARRY
It’ll be soon. We’ll be the three stooges again before you know it.

GARY
Good. But, for now I’ll have to suffer alone with you.

And torture.

GARY Promise?

LARRY
How about a drink? I was having a rum and coke. Do you want your usual?

GARY
No, I’ll have what you’re having. Something different for a change.

LARRY
Feeling adventurous?

GARY
Maybe.

Larry moves to the bar while Gary sits on the sofa.

GARY
How’s the website business?

LARRY
Doing well with some new accounts and busy enough.

GARY
Good.

Larry brings the drinks.
LARRY
Cheers! (Toasts.) To friendship.

GARY
Yes, it’s the best.

Larry reaches behind the sofa to pull up a large sketchpad and then presents it to Gary.

LARRY
This is what I’ve also been working on.

A surprised Gary looks through it with interest.

GARY
Oh my God! That’s me. From what?

LARRY
A snapshot from that pool party. Remember?

FLASHBACK - Fifteen years ago.

EXT. SWIMMING POOL PATIO

Gary on his back, is surrounded by people while Larry gives him mouth to mouth.

He gasps, opens his eyes, and then Larry with the others look back with relief.

Back to present.

LARRY
I’m glad you’re still around.

GARY
Thanks. It was a lesson about mixing drinking with swimming. I’ve told others that one time you and I got out of a pool together, and then you gave me a big wet kiss.
LARRY
Well, I haven’t given any mouth to mouth or kissed another man’s lips since then.

GARY
Would you care to elaborate?

LARRY
Not right now.

GARY (Refers to book.)
Ok. This is beautiful work.

LARRY
Thanks, it’s a start.

GARY
With a lot showing through.

LARRY
It feels good. You and your work have always inspired me.

GARY
Thanks.

He continues to look through the drawings.

LARRY Refill?

GARY Sure.

Larry goes to the bar.

A romantic ballad plays as Larry returns to the sofa with the drinks after which they click glasses.

Larry takes a large gulp.

FLASHBACK - twenty years ago.
INT. MUSEUM - GALLERY

Gary walks around a corner, and then notices Larry as he gazes at the ‘Blue Nude’ on the wall.

Gary moves closer with interest, but Larry is not aware.

GARY
Isn’t that beautiful. I have that at home.

Larry gives him an odd look.

GARY
A copy that is.

Larry smiles which opens up a silent conversation between them.

INT. MUSEUM HALLWAY

Larry and Gary continue their conversation while they walk.

INT. LOFT

Gary shows his paintings to Larry.

Back to present.

GARY
It was thrilling; you were turning me on, I wanted to seduce you. Then, the “Bang” reality check.

LARRY What?

GARY
Oh come on.

LARRY
Refresh my memory.

GARY
Don’t play with me!
There’s another surprise!

More? O.k., Mr. Mystery. I’m all yours.

Good. Now, go into the bedroom and shut your eyes.

Gary walks into the bedroom as Larry nervously paces.

With growing courage, Larry walks into the bedroom.

Gary stands near the bed with his eyes closed.

Larry awkwardly approaches Gary to clumsily kiss Gary on the lips. A surprised Gary opens his eyes and then pulls away.

Gary moves fast out of the room.

Gary enters followed by Larry.

I’m sorry. I’m a God damned idiot!

Calm down. It’s o.k.

But, I just wanted it to be nice.

It was, but scary.

What?

I thought I was satisfied with what we already had going.
LARRY
Me too. I just got carried away.

A pause, and then they carefully sit on the sofa with a safe distance between them.

GARY
It’s just that, I don’t want all of you, but some of you. Let’s not add more than we have to.

LARRY
You’re right. (Pause.) I just feel so close to you.

GARY Likewise.

They move closer together to begin an embrace.

A telephone rings.

Both freeze as the voice of JANE, Larry’s live in girlfriend, leaves a message.

JANE (OS)
Hi love. Are you there?

Gary and Larry remain silent.

Oh, I guess not. I thought you’d be home. I hope you’re behaving. Just kidding. I’ll be back tomorrow night. Everything is fine here. I hope you were able to get together with Gary like you wanted to. I miss and love you. See you tomorrow.

Affectionate kissing sounds from Jane. Gary and Larry awkwardly move out of the embrace.

LARRY
Well, let the guilt begin.

GARY
Something like that.
LARRY
Maybe, this is just curiosity.

GARY
Or jumping over to where you think the grass is greener.

LARRY
Could be.

GARY
Be careful, the grass may be greener because it’s fertilized with piles of shit. That won’t be fun to walk in.

LARRY No.

GARY
I should get going.

LARRY
Are you sure?

GARY
Yes, I need some fresh air.

LARRY
So do I.

EXT. SIDEWALK
Larry and Gary walk slowly next to each other.

GARY
Anyway, I hope you are happy.

LARRY
Yes, but just a little restless.

GARY
I can relate.
LARRY
I’m going through this thing about relationships. I want them all to be beautiful and meaningful. Not to waste time with bullshit.

GARY
More quality not quantity. I don’t worship false Gods, so why should I worship false friends. I’m so fortunate to have had those fourteen wonderful years with Ted as my partner. May he rest in peace. Also, being with you has been great.

LARRY
Yes, it can be very simple and special.

GARY
And can go wherever it wants. A kind of freedom.

LARRY
Let’s keep that going between us.

GARY
For sure. We’re close enough for that.
