

James: Forbidden Child

written by

Séan Scully

INT. JAMES' BEDROOM - NIGHT

A dimly lit room filled with toys and a TV. A disturbing drawing lies beside James as he sleeps peacefully. The silence is broken by a KNOCK on the door. James' "parents" answer, revealing a group of doctors standing outside.

DOCTOR 1

Let's do this.

They enter James' room, their eyes fixated on him. They slowly count to three, then remove the covers. James turns around, suddenly awake, and starts screaming.

JAMES

No! No!

The doctors quickly grab him, trying to restrain him. James fights back, biting and kicking them, desperately trying to escape. He manages to break free and runs down the stairs.

INT. HALLWAY - NIGHT

James is cornered by the doctors. One of them grabs him, lifting him up and carrying him toward an awaiting ambulance. James continues to struggle, shouting and attempting to punch the doctor, but his efforts are in vain.

INT. AMBULANCE - NIGHT

James is placed on a bed and strapped in, tears streaming down his face. The doors close, and the ambulance starts moving. James cries out in fear as they drive away.

INT. SURGERY ROOM - DAY

The ambulance arrives at a hospital. The doors open, revealing a surgery room filled with computer screens and medical equipment. James' bed is brought inside, and the doctors prepare for the procedure. James continues to resist, shouting no, but they manage to subdue him and inject him with various substances.

A priest enters the room, carrying a crucifix.

PRIEST

It's time to rid this child of the evil spirits.

The bed begins to shake violently, and James screams in vain. The doctors can only watch helplessly as the priest performs an exorcism. Finally, James falls silent, lifeless.

EXT. ABANDONED FOREST - DAY

A hundred years later, the forest is overgrown and forgotten. James' grave lies hidden amidst the trees. A group of hunters, dressed in army gear, stumbles upon it.

One of the hunters notices a book titled "Forbidden Child: Battle of Vengeance, Battle of Christ" lying beside the grave. They read a letter inside.

HUNTER

"How could you do this? It's not real. I sent you. I gave life to you. To complete it once and for all. But they got to you. How? I thought I gave you it all. But you weren't strong enough to go up against them."

The hunters exchange confused glances, trying to comprehend the mystery before them. Suddenly, a thunderstorm approaches, intensifying the eerie atmosphere.

One of the hunters doubles over in pain, blood pouring from his body. He collapses onto one knee before passing out. The group is filled with fear as they witness this inexplicable event. Without warning, a massive thunderbolt strikes, engulfing the hunters in its fury.

INT. ABANDONED FOREST - DAY

Six hundred years later, another group, well aware of the grave's dark history, embarks on a mission. Abby, a determined girl, walks up to the grave, falling to her knees.

ABBY

James! James! Feel me! Give life to us. Show us what you are. James! Please! Listen to me, James!

A storm approaches, its thunder echoing through the forest. Jane, a member of the group, is confused and scared.

JANE

Abby, what are you doing?

ABBY

James is speaking to me. He can control us. Let him give birth to us all. I feel him inside me.

Suddenly, Abby's eyes turn red, a sinister transformation overcoming her. She charges at Jane, biting her. In an instant, Abby morphs into a wolf, revealing the unleashed power of James and his creator. Sarah, the remaining group member, flees in terror, but Abby's wolf persona catches up to her.

Abby devours Sarah's remains before disappearing into the depths of the forest, her transformation complete. The legend of James, the forbidden child, lives on, ready to terrorize once again.

FADE OUT.