It's a bright sunny day. BATHERS play volley-ball and CHILDREN build sand castles.

SURFERS, with their multicolored surfboards surf the crashing white waves on a deep blue sea.

Close to the sea's edge, a few SURFERS flirt with some BEAUTIFUL YOUNG GIRLS.

Sat on the sand, all alone, is BERT, (25) a good-looking, bronzed guy. He glances over towards the edge of the beach. Some SURFERS chat with PRETTY GIRLS.

Bert appears envious when he looks at the surfers and girls.

The girls laugh and giggle, they appear to enjoy being with the surfers.

Bert stands up, he appears lonely, then he strolls away towards the stores.

Bert arrives at front of the store-window. He stares at a yellow surfboard reflected in the display.

The yellow surfboard has a red dragon design painted on top; the dragon sports flames from it's mouth.

Bert scans the yellow surfboard up to down. He looks at the price-tag:

The price-tag reads: $800 Dollars.

Bert touches the store-window with his hand, runs his hand across the window as if touching the surfboard itself. Bert moves away from the window, a look of regret in his eyes.

A basic, simple bedroom which is messy, typical of a teenager. Posters hang from the walls and ceiling.

Bert sits on a bed. He holds a box. Bert opens it, pulls out some bills of money and coins.

He counts the money on the bed. He tosses the bills and coins aside. He lays down.

Bert stares up to a posters on the ceiling...

Bert walks through the door, a sad look on his face.

In the Store window the Store Assistant places a naked dummy in the window display where the yellow surfboard previously was.

Bert looks into the window.

A Store Assistant inside the store-window puts a dummy in the place where the yellow surfboard was.

A tear rolls down Bert's cheek.

Bert turns around, he looks very sad, then walks down the street, his head hung low.
EXT. BEACH - DAY
It is morning.
It is a grey day, the beach is quite deserted.
Bert sits on the sand and stares out at the sea.
Something grabs his attention out at sea.
The waves crash in onto the beach.
Bert stands up to get a better view.
A hand held up high in the water, somebody waves for help.
The waves crash down on top on this person and they are gone.
Bert looks around.
Nobody to be seen, the beach is deserted.
Bert runs down to the sea, rushes into the crashing waves, the water breaks across his body. Bert dives into the water, swims against the tide.
EXT. THE SEA - DAY
Bert swims far out to sea where the victim previously waved their hand but there is nobody there. Bert glances around to his left and then to his right, nobody there.
Bert dives deep down into the sea.
Moments later, Bert bursts through the water he holds a TEENAGER in an arm-lock.
He swims back towards the beach, pulls the limp Teenager with him.
EXT. BEACH - DAY
Bert reaches the beach, he is exhausted, out of breath.
Both Bert and the Teenager lie in the shallow water.
Three or four BATHERS rushes over and pulls Bert and the Teenager out of the shallow water, pulls them farther up the dry sand.
Bert is exhausted, he breathes heavily.
A BATHER performs mouth-to-mouth C.P.R on the Teenager.
Suddenly, the Teenager bolts forward, vomits a mouthful of water onto the sand.
A Lady, the BOY'S MOTHER (30's) arrives, bends down, desperately embraces the Teenager.
The Teenager looks through his Mother's arms.

Bert catches his breath looks back at the Teenager, he still has a sad look on his face.

Bert is left all alone. He looks up to the cliffs nearby.

Bert rises to his feet then strolls towards the cliffs.

EXT. CLIFF TOP - DAY

A view of the beach and sea reaches out into the distance. The wind gushes high up it blows Bert's hair to the side. He looks down to the sea and cliffs below.

The sea waves crash hard against the rocks below.

Bert takes a deep breath, steps back, runs and then jumps.

EXT. SEA - DAY

Bert sours through the air then drives into the sea like a seagull, he plunges deep down into the sea.

INT. SEA - UNDERWATER - DAY

Bert dives down, down into the deep blue sea. He opens his eyes, looks up to the surface. The sunlight shines down through the water.

Bert dives down, deeper, and deeper until the light is gone and into a deep blue darkness. Bert looks faint, out of breath, the bubbles escapes from his mouth then...

A Red Dragon, fire spits from its open mouth.

Bert struggles to reach the surface, bubbles trickles out of his mouth, running out of air.

EXT. SEA - DAY

Something yellow bobs up on the surface.

Bert emerges through the sea waves like a whale, he gasps hard for air and breathes in, sucking in the fresh air.

The Yellow surfboard floats up to Bert.

Bert grabs a hold of the board, lifts himself out of the water, climbs onto the board. He stands up, looks up to the cliffs.
On top of the cliffs in the distance, a figure waves to Bert.

EXT. CLIFF TOP - DAY

The Teenager, on top of the cliffs, he waves to Bert.

EXT. SEA - DAY

Bert on the surfboard floats across the sea.

Bert waves back then turns and gazes into the distance across to sea.

The golden sun slowly goes down over on the fiery horizon.

Surfing on the water, Bert raises his right arm high up in the air, his fist squeezed tightly, he yells out loud like a Hawaiian warrior...
