Synopsis

In one small Balkan capital city called Sarajevo, the amount of criminality is increasing from time to time. In order to minimize the amount of crime, one young U.S sergeant, who is himself grew up in this city, is coming to his homeland after 10 years spent outside of his country. His name is SERGEANT DAVE MILKOVICH, who is currently U.S sergeant in the Marines. Soon after he's back, the Head of SPD (Sarajevo Police Department) propose him to run new task force and he accepts it.

After a month, Milkovich gets in contact with JON DAVIS, a detective in SPD who is his best friend, and propose him to join the task force. During the investigation, they bump into GERALD SIMPSON, who is a retired police officer, accidentally while they chasing a criminal. After a week, Jon meets with Gerald for coffee to give him a job in the task force and he accepts. The following week, they are making a list who else they need in the task force and Dave comes up with the idea that they need forensic officer. So, then Gerald publish advertisements in the news, and the next week, they organize an audition for it. The audition went bad because some of the forensics did not have specific specifications for the job. Then, everyone agrees that they will not have forensic officer, but Jon did not assume that he will meet someone that he used to go to university. At dawn, while Jon is walking toward the bus station, he hardly recognizes HEATHER GUTIERREZ, a young forensic student, and he decides to get closer to her. She hardly recognizes him and they start a conversation, and in the end Jon propose her to join in the task force.

In the end, they fill all the empty positions in the task force and start working together in the other episodes.
