BRADLEY
the art of realization is a funny thing, when we lose a set of keys or a wallet perse we will bury ourselves alive to find the said thing. sometimes it isn't until that realization hits us that we can move past it and move on with our lives, so my message to you is if you ever lose your keys or a wallet and you know where you dropped it and it's not their anymore that realization has hit you, you will never find that again thank you goodnight sleep well.

the end.
