AUTHOR: BENADICT KWAMBOKA.

LOGLINE: A thirteen year old girl finds herself in possession of a job as a bodyguard for a rich man's son. Even though she lacks the qualified bodyguard skills she accepts the job so as to pay off some debts her family owes.

SYNOPSIS:

Loyalty Gatlin is a thirteen year old ordinary girl living in Rockville. She and her best friend Leo spend most time at the boxing room. Leo is looking forward to participate in teen boxing competition. Loyalty is always there though she has no interest in learning boxing. Loyalty's deceased dad Will Gatlin was a former employee at Michael Huntley's company. Michael Huntley is one of the richest men in North Potomac, Maryland. Michael sends his men to auction Will Gatlin's property because he owed the company a loan before he died. Michael's men end up carrying Loyalty and her mom Leah along to North Potomac. Michael assigns Loyalty a job as a bodyguard for his introverted reluctant son Lucas. On the other hand one of the other richest men in North Potomac Bill Tyson sends off his kids Warm and Kendra to a prestigious school that allows students to go with bodyguards. Loyalty, Lucas, Warm, Kendra and their bodyguards end up in the same school. How will they navigate high school together?
